Delivering Remote Patient Monitoring and Chronic Care Management

This is an unprecedented moment in our history. With the increasing pandemic situation of COVID-19, healthcare providers are even more challenged to provide care when it matters most while addressing limited resources and continued increase in healthcare cost. This combined with increase of chronic illnesses, emergence of new therapies (e.g., genomics, personalized medicine), and patients demand for personalized care is stretching the limits of the current healthcare systems.

TeleVital is committed to help healthcare providers to reduce unnecessary in-office visits, readmissions, and hospitalization costs by providing remote value-based patient care into a secured single system of care management. For patients, TeleVital monitoring solution improves personal health, achieves wellness goals and reduces anxiety in the comfort of their homes by getting remote advice from their healthcare providers for their condition-specific situation without unnecessary in-office visits while proactively managing their treatment options and appointments.
